* Studying with students from around the world

JLI has students from 25 different countries and regions. Because students have so many native languages, they use Japanese as a common language in the classroom.

* A focus on USING Japanese

Students have many opportunities to speak Japanese with classmates. Classes engage students via presentations, pair work etc. In Japan, communicating in English often isn’t possible. However, it presents many opportunities to use Japanese in everyday life. Living in Japan allows you to master the language directly.

* Teaching in Japanese, by Japanese teachers

Classes are taught by professional, native Japanese teachers, using only Japanese language. Even beginners can understand through use of visual aids during lessons. Immersive learning only in Japanese helps to make sense of Japanese concepts in context. Speaking with teachers and students in Japanese will quickly improve your skills!

* Classes divided by ability

Students will be placed in classes depending on their skill level. There will be from beginner to intermediate classes.

* Small class sizes

Classes have about 10 students to help focus on studies. Many opportunities to speak with classmates will improve your ability quickly.

* Interaction with Students of Teaching Japanese as a Foreign Language Course

JLI also has Japanese teacher training course. Japanese students who would like to become Japanese teachers are studying here. You can communicate with them in Japanese during the classes, activities, and break. We have a lounge that any students can use. (with Wifi)
